New Christian book encourages solidarity through faith

Molly Sutherland shows readers that 'Our Unity Is In The King Of Kings'

ALDERSHOT, England – “Each of us has a destiny designed by God to fulfill. I believe God is calling his Church to unity. It is time that we prepare the ground for the Holy Spirit to fulfill Christ’s prayer before he went to the cross,” says Molly Sutherland, citing John 17:20-23: “Father may they be one, just as You and I are One.” This passage embodies the concept of “Our Unity Is In The King Of Kings” (published by Xlibris UK), which encourages a new era of solidarity between humans, between Christians, through the love Christ himself embodied.

“Jesus gave us a commandment, that we love one another as He does. Isn’t it time we obeyed this command so that the walls of separation could fall?” Sutherland asks. She says that the world needs to see people love one another as Jesus did, so that everyone can trust and have faith in each other. Her book suggests ways in which God is asking his people to prepare the ground for Christ’s prayer to be fulfilled, this is made possible through unity, which Sutherland says will come from love, for God is love and he is one.

“The disunity among Christians that I had painfully witnessed since childhood is one of the major reasons that keeps people away from knowing what the Good News that Jesus came to bring us is.” Sutherland says, going on to explain her passion in seeing ways to bridge these gaps and bring the faithful together.

“Could we be the generation known by our love?” the author challenges her readers. The unity of God and its positive effects on people’s lives is the delight of Sutherland’s life, however she believes that the solidarity it brings about may be much greater than the melting of denominational divides, and in her own words people “need to be alert and cooperate with his Holy Spirit to work with him in what he is accomplishing in our midst.”
